My own Precious Darling Wifie:-

Just received your darling letters of Thursday and Friday and sure am glad that you got my last Sunday's letter, as I always want you to know that I write every single day. The mail problem is one that only the government can solve, and when that happens —— well, the Messiah will be here.

Honey love, I just can't get over the way you suffered for two days! My own precious little baby wifie, suffered because of no mail, which was not my fault! Tootsie dear, never mind, its only 5 more short weeks before you will be here with me, and believe me, precious dovie, I sure will be happy. Working very hard will have no terrors for me, I want you here so, so much. Please God, our wedding anniversary will be spent together, and oh, how happy we'll be. What do you say, honey love, am I right? And Tootsie, I won't be suffering from my stomach as I do now. For the past week, my stomach has given me trouble. When I am hungry, I am afraid to eat, for fear it will make me sick, and when I do eat, then I'm sick for fair. Lord, how I wish to have this separation ended. I just simply can't stand it any further. Honey love, you must come in May, on May 3rd to be exact, and God willing, for I am terribly lonesome for you. I want you so much. I miss and yearn for you dreadfully! Though its only 5 short weeks more, it seems like ages, and certainly do hope and pray that the weeks will soon pass.

Toots mine, sure am glad that you filed out your vacation slip. If they don't give you the vacation by the 15th of next month, quit then and there. It is mighty peculiar how people know your business better than you do yourself, but in our instance, it doesn't worry us, for you are going to leave them soon, please God, eh, Tootsie?

Last week, honey love, was pretty bad, until Saturday, the last day of the week, when I got the $90 in notes. Uncle Morris assured me he would discount them for me for $79.20, the 10.80 being what the bank charges. As yet, I didn't get the money, but probably will get it to-day or to-morrow. I told Uncle Morris about how necessary it was for me to get rooms, so he told me that next Sunday he will go with me and look for some nice rooms. Little by little, but I am getting cases and getting new clients. I feel sure it won't be long before I have a nice little practice built up. I expect to get Rosenberg Brothers' job in a few days. You see, Lovie, every little bit helps, and a little assured income, especially during the summer months, sure is satisfactory. I am pretty sure we will manage. Only the time for you to be here seems so far off. I sure do hope May is here already.

As for Ray, I am still awaiting word from her. I sure would love to see that baby. Honey love, sometimes, when you are able to, take her pictures with the camera I sent you, and send me one, won't you. I just feel as if I could bite her cheese off. Remember me to Mayane Mendel. Tell Ray I haven't forgotten her kindness relative to the $25. I sure do wish I could make some nice money in the near future so that I could send her a nice little gift. Some day, anyway, I'll send her something.

Honey love, Herman Goldberger got a case, and first found out that he got it because the man thought he was my partner. He neglects his business fearfully, and now I've got to go down and take care of it. It comes off at 2 o'clock and its now 20 minutes off. In to-morrow's letter I'll tell you what the man told me.

Will close now, honey love, with all my love to you, my precious darling little wifie, and with all my hugs and kisses,

Your everloving hubby

Joe
